“ Rarely at a loss for words, I find myself teetering on the brink of that reality. My Father my friend, inspiration for all that is good in me. Father, friend, mentor, professor, colleague, woodsman guide, hunting, fishing - the list goes on. And ahh yes, the HC. A mystical place, a place forgotten by time, a place that stands tall in the memories of many of us past and present. I recall a magical morning early in November one year... A fresh blanket of snow greeted the hunting party that day. Jack English and I were chosen to “put a push” on Hedge Hog Hill - standing in the ready, were my Father, Uncles Hap and Eric, John English and Dale Reed. 2 shots rang out, 2 Bucks down, one mine and one my father’s. A proud day, a proud time of life.... as a tear rolls down my cheek...soft sobbing continues. So many memories, so much of life more poignant now than before. In my heart of hearts, I can honestly say I never knew a better man. Again, silence washes over me..... Goodbye Dad.....Goodbye Dad.....Goodbye Dad...
“To everything,...
There is a season....”

“ What a blessing, to have such a good and wonderful man for my Dad. A lifetime of great memories to go through..but a special one, made just a few weeks ago, became your parting gift to me...We we’re holding hands and I thought maybe you had fallen asleep but suddenly what a fun moment! We were having a thumb war, like so many years ago when I was a kid... I laughed and you laughed. It was a beautiful moment. I love you Dad. Thank you for everything, these 70 years of my life. I’m sure you are in a beautiful place right now...a man like you, straight through the pearly gates! God Bless you, Dad ❤️
