“ I remember Leon from when he worked at Glen Wild. He was always nice to my sister and I as young children. I could say he watched us grow up because our grandfather was caretaker there. I remember him being a kind caring person.

A funny memory : Leon's pants always hung low in back (the style now), and Grampa would say "pull up your pants Leon" Now maybe you had to be there to appreciate it, but when that style came out and a family member wore their pants like that I would say to them "pull up your pants Leon"

My sister said last time she saw him he had helped her out by neutering her cat.

Those were the days!!

Sincere condolences to his family and know he will always be with you.
